Introduction

Commanding the head of the Markha Valley are the towering twin peaks of Kang Yatse. We will tackle the western summit known as Kang Yatse 2, a perfect introductory 6000m+ peak for those wanting to hone and sharpen their skills, and a perfect alternative to the popular Stok Kangri.

The approach to our base camp is through the, almost unknown, Lhato Valley meaning this is an adventure for those who want to experience the remarkable Ladakhi landscape in perfect solitude. Our carefully planned itinerary allows for ample acclimatisation by exploring the ancient Buddhist monasteries and palaces of the Indus Valley and driving up to the Kardung La (5390m), one of the highest roads in the world, for a sensational panorama of the Karakoram range. The trek through the Lhato Valley allows for further acclimatisation to ensure that we are fit and ready for our summit attempt on our arrival into base camp. The ascent of Kang Yatse 2 is technically straightforward, involving easy-angled scree and snow slopes and is the perfect end to this two-week climbing holiday.

Is this holiday for you?

Our trekking and climbing holiday to Kang Yatse 2 is a physically demanding trip, reaching an altitude of over 6000m. However, this is not a technically demanding climb and crampon experience is preferable but not essential. The approach trek traverses remote valleys that see very few visitors and the trails will not always be well defined and will also require numerous stream and river crossings. It may be necessary to rope up to cross a small glacier before starting the ascent which will mainly be over easy-angled scree and boulder slopes. The final 100 - 200 metres may require the use of crampons on snow slopes up to about 35 degrees and along a short rocky ridge where the guides may use safety ropes depending on the conditions on the day. The ridge is not a knife-edge, but there is a degree of exposure and some scrambling may be required depending on the snow conditions.

DAY 2

Fly to Leh (3524m), transfer to group hotel. Remainder of day at leisure.

After an early breakfast, we return to the airport (this time to the Domestic Terminal) for the early morning internal flight to Leh. The hour long flight is simply spectacular and provides close-up views of the 7000 metre massifs of Nun and Kun. Arriving at Leh (3524 metres), we drive by jeep to our hotel. The rest of the day is free to either rest in the shade of the hotel courtyard or your room. Later in the afternoon the guide will organise a leisurely walk into Leh's colourful bazaar to check out the roadside stalls selling Tibetan artefacts. Flying straight into the high altitude of Leh can take your breath away and it is best to concentrate on acclimatising for the first few days.

DAY 3

Full day of sightseeing in the Indus Valley, including a visit to Alchi Monastery.

A full day's sightseeing tour. We visit several of the area's most important monasteries such as Alchi, with the opportunity to meet some of the monks who live here. Some of these monasteries occupy elevated sites and offer remarkable views across the Indus Valley to the Zaskar Ranges, as well as good acclimatisation walking up and down steps!

DAY 4

Acclimatisation walk set by tour leader and return to Leh (3524m).

Today we will make an acclimatisation walk. During the acclimatisation process, it is important to strike the right balance between working the heart and lungs but not overtaxing and our guide will choose an appropriate route depending on the group and local conditions.

DAY 5

Drive to the Kardung La (5380m) and return to Leh (3524m).

Today, we further our acclimatisation with a jeep drive up to the 5380m Khardung La, one of the world's highest road passes. This high pass in the mountains to the north of Leh leads into the Nubra Valley, which has until recently been closed to foreign visitors. The 2000m climb to the pass provides panoramic views of the Zaskar Range beyond the Indus Valley, with Stok Kangri standing out prominently as one of the higher peaks in the range. At the pass itself, there are views of the little-known peaks of the Eastern Karakoram. After taking tea at the pass, gasping in the thin atmosphere, we return to our hotel in Leh.

DAY 6

Drive to trailhead hamlet of Lhato (4000m).

From Leh, we drive along the Indus Valley for an hour or so to Upshi where we turn away from the valley, heading south on a road which would eventually take us across the Himalaya to Manali. However, we stop off after just half an hour at the tiny hamlet of Lhato (4000m), situated at the foot of the Lhato Valley.

The afternoon is free to explore and to continue the process of acclimatisation. Here, we will spend our first night under canvas surrounded by incredible views.

DAY 7

Trek from Lhato to Rigyl Sumdo (4600m).

We start our trek today. We follow the stream along the valley floor before the path rises and gradually gains height. After an hour or so, we cross the stream and head northwards, crossing more streams until we reach the confluence of two majestic valleys. The place is called Rigyl Sumdo and, depending on water availability, makes an ideal location for our campsite for the next two nights.

DAY 8

Acclimatisation day, exploring above Rigyl Sumdo.

Nomadic shepherds sometimes bring their sheep and goats to this place for the summer grazing and there are some basic drystone enclosures adjacent to our camp. Hiking up above camp towards the remnant snow patches that lie beneath the peaks of Gapo Ri and Dzo Jongo is a great way to aid our acclimatisation.

DAY 9

Trek from Rigyl Sumdo to Lhalung Camp (4838m) via the Chagtsang La (5200m).

We strike camp and set off again on our trek, leaving the valley that has been our home for the last two nights. The path undulates, gently climbing as we come to the first pass: the Poze La (4953m). Once we have crossed the pass, we drop down on the other side until the path levels off. After a while it starts to rise again, until we reach the Chagtsang La (5200m). From here, we have the most amazing views towards the magnificent peaks of Reponi Mallai Ri, Dzo Jongu and Gapo Ri. After resting at the pass for a while, drinking in the scenery, we descend to our camp at Lhalung, at a beautiful spot at a riverside meadow.

The path descends easily, as we drop down to the relatively flat plain of Nimaling. We cross the valley and start to climb gradually to gain the high and wide open meadows that are perfect for setting up a base camp for Kang Yatse 2 (4860m).

DAY 12

Ascent of Kang Yatse 2 (6250m) and return to basecamp.

We leave at 1am for the summit. We start by walking across scree and rocky terrain, our way picked out by our head-torches. Once we meet the snow-line we strap on our crampons and rope up together and set off once more, up the steepening snow and ice slope. We continue in this fashion for another two hours, until we gain the final ridge that leads up to the lofty summit. The ridge line continues for another two or three hours to the summit (6250m). After enjoying the panoramic views, we descend the way we came, dropping back down to where our base camp was located this morning. We continue downwards for a little longer, to arrive at our new camp at Nimaling.

Trek from Nimaling to roadhead at Chogdo, via the Kongmaru La.

We will savour our final day of trekking as we climb up to the Kongmaru La (5290m) on a well-marked trail for two hours, switch-backing steeply for the final 250 metres. From the pass, views open up northwards towards the hills of the Eastern Karakoram and China. Behind us, the skyline is dominated by Kang Yatse. We descend into the narrow gorge at Chuskyurmo (4155m), trekking for several hours until we reach the village of Chogdo where we will be met by our vehicles and transferred, tired and happy, to Leh.

Hotel contact details and an emergency number will be provided with your booking confirmation.

Meal Plan

All meals are included in the holiday price from lunch on day 1 to breakfast on day 15.

Food & Water

It is not recommended to drink untreated water from the taps. If you are on a trekking or cycling holiday, water is supplied to fill up your individual bottles. This will be boiled, filtered or provided in large jerry cans or 5 litre bottles. Additionally you should take purification tablets or a filter bottle (such as a Water-To-Go bottle) to treat your water when in towns or where water is not supplied. We do not encourage the purchasing of single use plastic bottles.

The food served during the trek is a mixture of local and Western food, mostly purchased locally and cooked for us by highly trained trek cooks. The emphasis is on providing a high-carbohydrate and largely vegetarian diet, which we have found to be easily digestible at high altitude. In Delhi and in Leh, we take our meals in the group hotel or in nearby restaurants. All meals while on trek and while staying in hotels are included in the trip price.

Special Diets

Whilst we can cater for vegetarians, albeit sometimes with a more limited choice, we cannot always provide special diets. Due to the nature of some of the trips that we operate and the countries in which we operate them, it can be very hard (and sometimes impossible) to cater for a wide range of dietary choices and you may have to supplement your diet with food/snacks from home. If you have specific dietary requirements please do speak to our sales team and they will be able to advise you whether or not we will be able to offer your specific choice. Please note that we are unable to provide separate menus and cannot accept liability for any problems arising from special dietary requirements or intolerances.

Accommodation

On arrival in Delhi and for one night after the trek, we stay at a hotel close to the airport which provides convenient and comfortable accommodation. Being near the airport makes the whole travel experience more relaxing, whilst still allowing us to include a sightseeing city tour. In Leh, we have 5 nights in a good tourist standard of hotel. Whilst on trek there are 7 nights camping. All accommodation is allocated on a twin sharing basis. If you are travelling by yourself, you will be paired up with another single client of the same sex. Single hotel rooms and/or single tents are available for a supplementary cost. If you are planning on extending your holiday additional nights at the group hotel are available on request.

Group Leader & Support Staff

The group will be led by professional and qualified tour leader, who is trained in the prevention, recognition and treatment of altitude sickness.

Altitude

This holiday involves going to very high altitude. During the course of your trip you will be spending at least one night above 4000 metres and/or trekking to 6000 metres or above. This is not something that you should worry about; the human body is quite capable of adapting to a very wide range of altitudes, but it is important that we follow some simple rules in order to acclimatise successfully. Before coming on this holiday you should read the advice on trekking at high altitude on our website which can be viewed via the link below. Unless you have previous experience of trekking above 4000 metres you should consult one of our trekking experts before embarking on this holiday. On this trip we carry a portable altitude chamber (PAC-bag) and/or bottled oxygen for use in emergencies.

www.keadventure.com/page/altitude.html

Spending Money

Approximately £150 - £200 (or equivalent in Euros / US dollars etc.) changed into local currency, should be allowed for miscellaneous expenses, including porter and trek crew tips, soft drinks and entry fees to monasteries and tourist sights etc. It is not necessary to purchase local currency (Indian Rupees) before you travel. We recommend taking your personal spending money in cash since you will be changing the majority of this into local currency on the day of arrival. Sterling, US dollars and Euros are readily exchanged in Delhi and Leh. It is also possible to withdraw cash (rupees only) from cash machines in certain banks in Delhi and Leh using credit and debit cards. Credit cards can be used to purchase many goods in Delhi and are particularly useful for more expensive souvenirs.

Guidance on Tipping

Tips are the accepted way of saying 'thank you' to your local guides and porters. They do not form part of their wages. KE always pays local crews the best rates of pay, no matter what country they are in and any tips they receive are seen as a personal thank you from group members. For our part, we advise local teams that tips are not a duty or a prerequisite but are a bonus and entirely dependent on the service that was given. It is important to remember tipping is voluntary and should be dependent on good service. For your trek crew we recommend that you give a tip if you feel that their services have met your satisfaction. We recommend that you give tips as a group rather than from individual group members and suggest you decide together on a level of tips that suits everyone. As a rough guide we suggest a contribution of around £50 - £60 (in local currency) per group member to a 'pool' should provide an appropriate level of tips. At the end of a trek many people also like to donate various items of their equipment to the porters and trek staff who work so hard to make the trip a success. Boots, gloves, hats, scarves and even socks (clean of course) are always warmly received by the porters, many of whom are simple farmers earning extra cash by portering for trekking groups. Technical clothing and equipment such as head-torches and trekking poles are highly prized by the local guides and camp crews.

Baggage Allowance

For this holiday you should take one piece of luggage, which should be a soft and sturdy duffel bag and a daypack. Your bag on trek will be carried by porters or pack animals. The packed weight of your trek bag whilst trekking should be no more than 15kg. Please note that the check-in baggage limit on all internal flights within India is now 15kg with a maximum cabin baggage limit of 7-8kg and you are responsible for any excess baggage fees that the airline may apply. From time to time cabin baggage (other than laptops, cameras and valuables) is not allowed on the Leh flight for security reasons. In this event, the limit for check-in baggage may be increased to 20kg at the discretion of the check-in staff. Note that excess baggage charges on domestic flights are minimal (a few hundred rupees per kilo), and we advise that you ready to pay any additional small costs should your baggage be overweight. It is possible to leave travel clothes and any other items not required on trek at the group hotel.

Group Size & Holiday Status

For each holiday there is a minimum number of participants required to enable it to go ahead. Once the minimum number is reached, the trip status will change from 'Available' to 'Guaranteed to run'. You can check the trip status for each departure in 'Dates and Prices' table. Other than in exceptional circumstances, we will not cancel a trip once it has achieved this guaranteed to run status and so you are free to proceed with your international flight booking and other travel arrangements.

General Information

Passport & Visas

The information that we provide is for UK passport holders. A passport with 6 months remaining validity at the end of your stay is generally required, and you should have at least 2 blank pages for each country that you visit.

It is your responsibility to ensure that you have the correct travel documents and visas for your holiday. Please ensure that you check for the latest advice before travel. For the most up to date information on entry requirements, please visit the UK Government website.

Visa India

Most nationalities, including travellers from the UK, the USA and many European countries can apply for their Indian Visa online through the E-Visa Application process. You must make your application at least four days prior to departure. Please download the detailed information document for details of how to apply for your visa: Visa India PDF

Health & Vaccinations

If you have a severe allergy please inform the KE office before you travel. We will do all we can to help, but we cannot guarantee an allergy free environment on KE trips. You will need to carry your own treatment for the allergy with you, as 'adrenaline auto-injectors' are not carried as standard by KE leaders and staff. You should inform your leader on arrival of your allergy, and let them know where you keep your adrenaline pen.

Dengue fever is a known risk in places visited. It is a tropical viral disease spread by daytime biting mosquitoes. There is currently no vaccine or prophylaxis available and therefore the best form of prevention is to avoid being bitten. We recommend you take precautions to avoid mosquito bites.

Zika virus has been confirmed as active in this country. It is a tropical viral disease spread by daytime biting mosquitoes. There is currently no vaccine or prophylaxis available and therefore the best form of prevention is to avoid being bitten. We recommend you take the usual precautions to avoid mosquito bites. The mosquitoes that transmit ZIKV are unlikely to be found above 2,000m altitude. For more information, visit the website of the National Travel Network and Centre (NaTHNaC) at <https://travelhealthpro.org.uk>

Vaccinations

You should contact your doctor or travel clinic to check whether you require any specific vaccinations or other preventive measures. You should be up to date with routine courses and boosters as recommended in the UK e.g. diphtheria-tetanus-polio and measles-mumps-rubella, along with hepatitis A and typhoid.

Malarial prophylaxis is not usually required for trips in the mountains, however if you are visiting rural and remote low lying areas then they might be necessary.

On holidays to more remote areas you should also have a dentist check up. A good online resource is Travel Health Pro.

Preparing for your Holiday

It makes a lot of sense to spend some time before coming on a climbing holiday getting some additional exercise. The fitter you are, after all, the more enjoyable you will find the experience. For this trip you need to be aerobically fit and also comfortable with walking for 7 - 8 hours each day over several days. The best preparation for a trip of this nature is regular hiking in hill or back country, particularly involving sections of steep terrain. If this is not possible because of where you live, we would suggest that you adopt a weekly exercise regime, gradually increasing your working time as you head towards departure. Previous experience of walking in crampons is useful if you have the opportunity although instruction in all necessary techniques for the climb will be given at Base Camp.

Climate

During July and August the temperature in Delhi will be hot (35°C or even a few degrees above this). It will also be humid. On the high plateau of Ladakh, the air will be much drier but temperatures in the noon-day sun can still reach the high 20s while trekking in the Indus Valley and around 15°C at Kang Yatse 2 Base Camp. We may encounter night-time temperatures at this camp as low as -10°C. At the time of our last departure of the year, September, temperatures in Delhi will have started to cool while on trek. A typical average daytime temperature will vary from mid to low 20s in the Indus Valley, to around 10°C or even lower up at Base Camp. Despite the lower ambient temperatures, it will still feel warm in the strong sun. Ladakh is not adversely affected by the monsoon and we can usually expect stable weather. However, mountains do generate their own weather systems and some rain or snowfall cannot be ruled out.

Travel Aware

As a reputable tour operator, KE supports the British Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office's 'Travel Aware' campaign to enable British citizens to prepare for their journeys overseas. The 'Travel Aware' website provides a single, authoritative source of advice for all kinds of travellers and we recommend that prior to travel, all KE clients visit the official UK Government website at travelaware.campaign.gov.uk and read the FCDO Travel Advice for their chosen destination. North Americans can also check out the U.S. Department of State website: www.travel.state.gov for essential travel advice and tips.

KE treat the safety and security of all clients as the most important aspect of any trip we organise. We would not run any trip that we did not consider reasonably safe. Should the FCDO advise against travel for any reason, we will contact everyone booked to travel to discuss the situation. We receive regular updates direct from the FCDO and are in constant touch with our contacts on the ground. If you have any questions about government travel advice, please call our office.

Single Use Plastic

KE do not encourage the use of single use plastic items. We are ensuring that our agents all over the world are working together to reduce the problem and educate those around them. We are leading by example in our KE office by reducing our plastic use.

*Mountaineering boots: Well-insulated single boots designed for Alpine mountaineering (minimum B2 rating) are suitable for departures prior to September. For departures in September or October the low temperatures encountered combined with high altitude mean that double boots with insulated inners are the best to keep your feet warm. These boots are also designed to take step-in crampons, quickly and efficiently. You must make sure that you are suitably equipped for these low temperatures. We recommend you speak to a mountaineering equipment specialist retailer for further advice.

Why Choose KE

Why KE

Those looking for a their first 6000m peak in Ladakh but seeking a quieter, more remote experience need look no further. We have created this walking holiday for those seeking an alternative to the rightly popular (but lower!) Stok Kangri. Approached from a tranquil valley, surrounded by tumbling glaciers and towering peaks, the ascent is technically straight-forward. This two-week holiday is the perfect combination for those wanting to hone their mountaineering skills whilst enjoying cultural immersion and true wilderness trekking.
