Introduction

Of all the classic trekking routes through the Sacred Valley into Machu Picchu, only one offers unparalleled luxury to the discerning traveller. The Salkantay Trek follows an ancient pre-Inca trade route and passes by the eponymous snow-capped mountain, delivering a wild and remote experience. Salkantay (6271m) is widely considered to be one of the most spectacular of all Andean peaks and with its glaciers stands sentry, high over the mountain passes. With wood-burning stoves and hot tubs with dramatic views, our luxury lodges await the weary trekker at the end of each day. Chefs prepare regionally inspired gourmet meals and there is even the option for a relaxing massage at most of the lodges (at additional cost). After a hot shower, it is a sublime experience to sink into goose-down bedding and be enveloped by the dark and silence of the mountains. Each lodge features only six rooms, each with ensuite, making this an exclusive and intimate experience. Making full use of these scenically-located lodges, we hike for 6 days through this pristine mountain region, home to rare wildlife and imbued with the Quechua culture. The climate will distinctly change as you move through the 15 different eco-systems, from the cold crisp high-altitude mountain air to the hot, steamy jungle climate. Your reward for tackling the challenging Salkantay trek is the ancient Inca citadel of Machu Picchu. It isn't hard to share the sense of awe that Hiram Bingham must have felt when he discovered the ruins, virtually reclaimed by vegetation, in 1911. The site sits high above the Urubamba valley, surrounded by deep precipices and steep mountains that had protected its secrets so effectively for centuries and mists rise from the valley to add to the sense of beauty and mysticism. This holiday also enjoys a private guided tour of Cusco and the surrounding area and stays in superior hotels in the city.

Is this holiday for you?

This holiday offers a variety of trekking conditions, from the farmland and coffee plantations of the lower valleys to high and windswept Andean passes. Most of the walking is on well-defined tracks and we are able to relax each night in our superb lodge accommodation. There are a couple of quite tough days - but overall the trekking is straightforward and not sustained. We have allowed a couple of nights in Cusco to allow us to begin the process of acclimatisation, followed by two nights and a potential rest day at the first of the lodges on our route to continue this important process.

Extensions

When booking your holiday, you will be able to 'add an extension option'. Once we have received your booking we will contact you to discuss additional services required for the extension and to take any additional deposit.

Peru Rainforest Extension

Visit Tambopata National Reserve, a haven of pristine Amazon wilderness where the river provides access to an uninhabited and vast 2.5 million acre area, home to the Amazon's five top predators - Jaguar, Giant Otter, Black Caiman, Harpy Eagle and Anaconda. It is a short flight to Puerto Maldonado, and then a ride in a motorised canoe to our jungle lodge. Highlights are the macaw clay-lick, otters, monkeys and an array of colourful birds.

Galapagos Islands Cruise

Situated over 600 miles from the mainland of South America, the remote archipelago of the Galapagos Islands needs little introduction. The Galapagos Islands are considered to be the crown jewels of the natural world, achieving near mythological status following visits by Charles Darwin. It was on his second visit aboard HMS Beagle in 1835 that Darwin's scientific studies introduced the world to the theory of evolution. The islands teem with life, much of which seem totally unphased and perhaps curious of visitors. Of the thirteen major islands, five have any form of human habitation. The environmental footprint is kept to an absolute minimum, allowing you, the visitor, a chance to explore the incredible biodiversity of these famous islands untouched by human development. Expect close encounters with blue-footed boobies, frigate birds, albatross, giant tortoises, seals, turtles and dinosaur-like lizards amongst many, many other examples.

Lake Titicaca by Train

Forming part of the border between Peru and Bolivia, this sacred lake of the Incas at an elevation of 3830 metres was where the god Viracocha rose and created the sun, moon, stars and the first people. It is the largest navigable lake in the world. There are several islands in the lake including the 'floating' Uros Islands which are man-made from reeds and are home to a pre-Incan people who live a simple traditional life. We travel by luxury train across the altiplano from Cusco to Puno, on the shores of Lake Titicaca. Note: Train operates on Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays only.

Meal Plan

When in Cusco, there is a wide range of dining options and it makes sense to allow you to explore these options. So, your holiday price does not include meals other than breakfasts when staying in this city. You will pay directly for a total of 2 lunches and 3 dinners (see itinerary for details) and you should allow approximately US$10 - 15 per meal. Whilst trekking and staying in lodges and at the hotel in Aguas Calientes, a full service including all meals is provided.

Food & Water

It is not recommended to drink untreated water from the taps. If you are on a trekking or cycling holiday, water is supplied to fill up your individual bottles. This will be boiled, filtered or provided in large jerry cans or 5 litre bottles. Additionally you should take purification tablets or a filter bottle (such as a Water-To-Go bottle) to treat your water when in towns or where water is not supplied. We do not encourage the purchasing of single use plastic bottles.

There are a huge variety of restaurants in Cusco catering for every budget and palate. If you want to seek out some traditional Peruvian fare you should be sure to sample some Ceviche (the word ceviche comes from the indigenous Quechua word 'siwichi', meaning fresh fish); this healthy, zesty and fresh dish is one of the most popular dishes in Peru. Also worth tasting is Lomo Saltado, a beef and vegetable dish cooked in a wok, which blends both Peruvian and Chinese ingredients. Drink recommendations include Mate de Coca (Coca Tea), a herbal tea made from the dried leaves of the coca plant and said to prevent altitude sickness and, of course, Pisco Sours! No trip to Cusco would be complete without sampling this alcoholic cocktail, which is made by mixing the peruvian liquor, Pisco, with egg white, ice, lime juice and angostura bitters. Throughout the trek, all meals will provided by the lodges. Prepare to indulge yourself! The lodges all have their own inventive gourmet menus, which will provide a refreshing take on the region's most iconic dishes. All the offerings are locally sourced - from the organic coffee blends to healthy snacks! Lunches will be prepared by the cooks on the spot and will consist of hot soup, gourmet sandwiches or a hot lunch, snacks and salads. Additionally, you will be handed a 'snack-pack' to carry in your day pack with dry fruits, peanuts, chocolates and fresh fruits.

New for 2020: alcohol is now included whilst staying at our luxury lodges.

Accommodation

Whilst in Cusco we will spend 3 nights at the elegant El Mercado hotel (or similar). The El Mercado is a charming property located just a stone's throw from the Plaza de Armas, the main square of Cusco.

Formerly part of the old farmers' market, El Mercado has been designed to incorporate some of the elements of the market, in its original décor, which mixes the best of colonial and contemporary architecture, its relaxed atmosphere and innovative cuisine.

During our trek we will stay at four beautifully-appointed mountain lodges, which are truly one of a kind. Each has been created with traditional Incan building techniques and is designed to blend perfectly with the surrounding environment. At each of our intimate 6-room lodges, you will enjoy hot showers, fine gourmet meals, select wines, goose-down bedding, massages, outdoor hot tubs and highly personalised service from the local staff.

All accommodation is allocated on a twin sharing basis. If you are travelling by yourself you will be paired up with another single client of the same sex. Depending on availability, it may be possible to pre-book single rooms throughout the holiday. For additional hotel prices and single supplement costs please refer to the dates and prices page of the trip on our website.

Group Leader & Support Staff

When in Cusco and during the Salkantay Trail trek the group will be accompanied by professional, English-speaking local tour guides.

Altitude

This holiday involves going to high altitude. During the course of your trip you will reach altitudes in excess of 3500 metres. This is not something that you should worry about; the human body is quite capable of adapting to a very wide range of altitudes, but it is important that we follow some simple rules in order to acclimatise successfully. Before coming on this holiday you should read the advice on trekking at high altitude on our website which can be viewed via the link below. You can also talk to one of our trekking experts if you have any concerns about altitude. www.keadventure.com/page/altitude.html

Park Fees & Permits

New regulations for visiting Machu Picchu came into force in 2022.

Daily visitor numbers are limited and visitors must be accompanied by a guide on one of five designated 'circuits' that are walked in a one-way direction, with a maximum of 4 hours allowed within the site.

A ticket, issued by the Peru Ministry of Culture, and included in your trip cost, needs to be purchased in advance of your visit. The ticket will stipulate an entry time and one of the 5 circuits. KE will aim to book the most comprehensive Machu Picchu tour available.

Tickets are linked to your name and passport number and usually sell out 2-3 months in advance. It is therefore important for you to supply us with your passport details at the time of booking to allow us to secure the required tickets.

If you are completing the Inca Trail, a set Machu Picchu circuit is included with your Inca Trail Permit.

IMPORTANT: If you change passport between booking and travelling, you must bring your old passport with you, as your ticket will be linked to the passport details you booked with.

There is a charge of US$50 for entrance to the Salkantay Trail. This is payable locally.

Spending Money

We estimate that $350 will be sufficient to cover your requirements including the above mentioned meals, the $50 Salkantay Trail fee, as well as expenses such as tips for drivers, trek crew and local guides. Soft drinks, wine and beer are available every night and if you intend to partake you should budget accordingly. There is no need to purchase local currency (Peruvian Soles) prior to travelling. It is possible to withdraw your money in local currency from ATMs in Cusco. If you are bringing your travel money with you we recommend you bring it in the form of US dollars in cash as this provides for the easiest exchange and in emergency can even be used to purchase goods. Credit cards can be used to purchase goods and to pay for meals in Cusco.

Guidance on Tipping

Tipping is common in Peru, however you must remember that it is voluntary, and how much you give depends on how you feel about the service you have received. Airport baggage carriers are the only exception and tipping is compulsory. These people are unwaged and make a living by carrying your luggage. The general rule is 1 or 2 soles per bag. For hotel staff, tipping is not expected, but is welcome. For hotel porters 1 or 2 soles per bag is reasonable. Drivers of standard taxis do not usually expect a tip. As with most countries, it is usual to tip in restaurants and 10% is expected for good service. For the support crew on trek (guides, cooks, porters etc.), it is recommended that each client contributes around £50 to 60 to a group tipping pool.

Additional Information

Single traveller - possible additional cost

This holiday is priced on a 2-person-sharing basis. If you are travelling by yourself and do not request single room occupancy, we will make every effort to pair you up with another single traveller of the same sex. If this proves not to be possible, you will be liable for an additional single traveller payment.

Baggage Allowance

For this holiday you should take one piece of luggage, which should be a soft and sturdy duffel bag, and one day pack. Your bag on trek will be carried by porters or pack animals and should not weigh more than 15kg. All you will have to carry in your day pack will be items such as a water bottle, waterproofs and camera. It is possible to leave extra baggage at the hotel in Cusco. Please note that baggage allowance on internal flights in Peru is 20kgs and that this limit is usually strictly enforced. For international flights please check your baggage allowance with your airline.

Group Size & Holiday Status

For each holiday there is a minimum number of participants required to enable it to go ahead. Once the minimum number is reached, the trip status will change from 'Available' to 'Guaranteed to run'. You can check the trip status for each departure in the 'Dates and Prices' table. Other than in exceptional circumstances, we will not cancel a trip once it has achieved this guaranteed to run status so you are free to proceed with your international flight booking and other travel arrangements.

Visa Peru

UK and USA passport holders do not require a visa for short stays. When passing through immigration you will need to request a copy of your TAM Migration form. You will need to retain this document and keep it safe, as you will be asked to produce it before you depart Peru. Health & Vaccinations

If you have a severe allergy please inform the KE office before you travel. We will do all we can to help, but we cannot guarantee an allergy free environment on KE trips. You will need to carry your own treatment for the allergy with you, as 'adrenaline auto-injectors' are not carried as standard by KE leaders and staff. You should inform your leader on arrival of your allergy, and let them know where you keep your adrenaline pen.

Dengue fever is a known risk in places visited. It is a tropical viral disease spread by daytime biting mosquitoes. There is currently no vaccine or prophylaxis available and therefore the best form of prevention is to avoid being bitten. We recommend you take precautions to avoid mosquito bites.

Zika virus has been confirmed as active in this country. It is a tropical viral disease spread by daytime biting mosquitoes. There is currently no vaccine or prophylaxis available and therefore the best form of prevention is to avoid being bitten. We recommend you take the usual precautions to avoid mosquito bites. The mosquitoes that transmit ZIKV are unlikely to be found above 2,000m altitude. For more information, visit the website of the National Travel Network and Centre (NaTHNaC) at <https://travelhealthpro.org.uk>

Vaccinations

You should contact your doctor or travel clinic to check whether you require any specific vaccinations or other preventive measures. You should be up to date with routine courses and boosters as recommended in the UK e.g. diphtheria-tetanus-polio and measles-mumps-rubella, along with hepatitis A and typhoid.

Malarial prophylaxis is not usually required for trips in the mountains, however if you are visiting rural and remote low lying areas then they might be necessary.

On holidays to more remote areas you should also have a dentist check up. A good online resource is Travel Health Pro.

You should attend your doctor and dentist for a check-up. Your doctor will have access to the most up to date information on the required vaccinations for the country you are visiting. In general we recommend vaccinations against the following: Polio, Tetanus, Typhoid, & Hepatitis 'A'. Malaria prophylaxis is not recommended for this trip unless you intend to visit the rainforest as an extension to your trip. A good online resource is the National Health Travellers website at fitfortravel.nhs.uk

Preparing for your Holiday

It makes a lot of sense to undertake some additional exercise before coming on a trekking trip. The fitter you are, after all, the more enjoyable you will find the experience. Our treks can be physically demanding, but more as a result of altitude and terrain than distances walked. You should gradually increase your exercise leading up to departure and in the month before setting off, we suggest that you try to fit in a number of long walks in hilly country.

Climate

The climate of Peru is very varied across different regions. There are three major influences on the climate of any particular region, these being: its general geographical position as part of equatorial South America, its proximity to the cooling effect of the Humbolt current and most significantly, its altitude. The climate of the Andean valleys which corresponds to the region between 3000 and 4000 metres is characterised by hot wet summers and cool dry winters. The Southern Hemisphere winter season in the Andes runs roughly from April through to October and this is the optimum period for trekking in this part of Peru. At this time we can expect the days to be warm and generally sunny, with temperatures between 12 and 20°C. Above 3500 metres, during this season, the night-time temperatures will fall below freezing. At our highest locations the outside night-time temperatures may drop as low as minus 5°C at any time and in mid-winter (July and August) temperatures may dip to minus 10°C overnight.

Travel Aware

As a reputable tour operator, KE supports the British Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office's 'Travel Aware' campaign to enable British citizens to prepare for their journeys overseas. The 'Travel Aware' website provides a single, authoritative source of advice for all kinds of travellers and we recommend that before travel, all KE clients visit the official UK Government website at travelaware.campaign.gov.uk and read the FCDO Travel Advice for their chosen destination. North Americans can also check out the U.S. Department of State website: www.travel.state.gov for essential travel advice and tips.

KE treat the safety and security of all clients as the most important aspect of any trip we organise. We would not run any trip that we did not consider reasonably safe. Should the FCDO advise against travel for any reason, we will contact everyone booked to travel to discuss the situation. We receive regular updates directly from the FCDO and are in constant touch with our contacts on the ground. If you have any questions about government travel advice, please call our office.
