South Korean cuisine is vibrant and diverse and reflects the country's rich history. Central to Korean meals is kimchi, a fermented vegetable dish, typically made with cabbage and radishes, seasoned with a mix of chilli, garlic, ginger, and various other spices. Kimchi is more than just a side dish; it's a symbol of Korean identity and is served at nearly every meal. Another staple is rice, often accompanied by a variety of banchan (small side dishes) that can include everything from pickled vegetables to marinated tofu and stir-fried greens.

Korean cuisine is also known for its bold and complex flavours, often achieved through fermentation, spices, and the use of ingredients like gochujang (a spicy red pepper paste) and doenjang (a fermented soybean paste). Dishes like bibimbap (a mixed rice dish topped with vegetables, meat, and a fried egg) and bulgogi (thinly sliced marinated beef) showcase the balance between sweet, sour, salty, and spicy flavours that characterise Korean food. Korean barbecue, where diners grill their own meat at the table, is another popular aspect of the cuisine, offering a communal and interactive dining experience. With a focus on fresh ingredients and a harmony of tastes.

Accommodation

We will spend 12 nights in comfortable, well-located hotels. In Seoul, our hotel is centrally situated and close to the metro. In Busan, we stay near the beach.

The one-night temple stay at Seoraksan Sinheungsa Temple is basic, with dormitory-style accommodation. During this stay, guests are required to observe the following rules: no smoking or alcohol is permitted, noble silence must be maintained, no outside food is allowed, and guests should not wander outside designated areas or enter the rooms of others. Your guide will provide a full briefing before this night's stay

Group Leader & Support Staff

The group will be led by a professional and qualified tour leader.

Spending Money

The amount of money you'll need for personal expenses and meals not included in the holiday will vary from person to person, but around £500 per person is a reasonable estimate. Prices in South Korea are comparable to those in Western Europe.

You may wish to carry some cash in South Korean won (KRW). You can obtain KRW before you leave through your usual exchange services, or you can withdraw money from an ATM at the airport upon arrival. Cash is useful for tipping and smaller purchases, and it can be handy if your card isn't working. Credit and debit cards are widely accepted in South Korea, particularly at major hotels, department stores, and restaurants. Contactless payment is also available, whether with your physical card or a digital wallet like Apple Pay. However, smaller retailers and restaurants may have difficulty processing foreign credit cards. You might also consider obtaining a prepaid travel card (Visa/Mastercard) for cheaper and faster transactions, including card payments and cash withdrawals.

Guidance on Tipping

Tipping is not customary in South Korea - if you try to tip in hotels/restaurants it may be refused! Some higher-end restaurants may add a 10% service charge to your bill. You may want to tip your Tour Leader to say thank you, or handing over a small gift is also a good way to show your satisfaction. If you tip your tour leader money should be placed inside of an envelope and presented quietly. As a guide, £2-3 a day would be appropriate.

Group Size & Holiday Status

For each holiday there is a minimum number of participants required to enable it to go ahead. Once the minimum number is reached, the trip status will change from 'Available' to 'Guaranteed to run'. You can check the trip status for each departure in the 'Dates and Prices' table. Other than in exceptional circumstances, we will not cancel a trip once it has achieved this guaranteed to run status so you are free to proceed with your international flight booking and other travel arrangements.

Meal plan

All breakfasts, 3 lunches and 1 dinner are included in the cost of this holiday.

General Information

A good online resource is Travel Health Pro.

Currency

Preparing for your Holiday

It makes a lot of sense to spend some time before coming on a walking holiday getting some additional exercise. The fitter you are, after all, the more enjoyable you will find the experience. We suggest that you adopt a weekly exercise regime. Regular hiking in hilly country is the best preparation but running, cycling and swimming are also good.

Getting some additional exercise before coming on an active holiday makes a lot of sense. The fitter you are, after all, the more enjoyable you will find the experience.

You should be aerobically fit and comfortable with walking 3 to 6 hours for consecutive days. Hill walking, with a good amount of ascent and descent, is the best training. Running, cycling and swimming are also good for developing cardiovascular fitness and stamina.

Climate

South Korea experiences a diverse climate with four distinct seasons, each offering a unique experience for visitors. Spring, from March to May, is one of the most popular times to visit, as the weather is mild and the countryside can be blanketed in beautiful cherry blossoms and vibrant flowers. Temperatures range from 10°C to 20°C.

Summer, from June to August, brings hot and humid weather, with temperatures often exceeding 30°C. This period also marks the monsoon season, with heavy rainfall, especially in July.

Autumn, from September to November, is another peak travel period, celebrated for its clear skies, cool temperatures, and stunning autumn foliage. The temperatures often range from 15°C to 25°C, making it a great time for hiking and exploring.

Winter, from December to February, is cold and dry, with temperatures often dropping below freezing, especially in the northern regions. However, this season offers a different charm, the winter landscape and seasonal festivals provide a unique cultural experience.
